● The world's oldest medical system - Ayurveda

Ayurveda is a one of the world's oldest holistic system of medicine from India and Sri Lanka which developed over 5000 years ago. The term comes from the Sanskrit words, meaning the "Science of life". The basic principle is to prevent and treat illness by maintaining balance between the mind, body and spirit.

● About extract of the neem tree

The neem is known as "the village pharmacy", and most of the bark, leaves, branches and seeds are used to make medicine. It is also used as a natural insect repellent, and leaf extracts are used in skin and oral care products since they have anti-inflammatory, bactericidal and whitening effects.

● Mixture of salacia reticulata extract which became exportable in recent years

Salacia reticulata is a indigenous plant that grows at altitudes over 1000 meters in Sri Lanka. It has effects on inflammation and skin disease, and especially its root is used for the treatment in ayurvedic medicine. It is called the "visionary herb" since it was unexportable to protect the woods for a long time. In recent years, it became available only in Japan, but is still a valuable ingredient since only a few cosmetic manufactures use it.

CAUTION

- It is made from plant-derived ingredients. Please avoid storing under high temperature and humidity.
